

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR LEADERS ARE COMING

REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK.

Rev. Francis E. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor society in America, will be in Salt Lake next Sunday. He comes on at this time to attend the eleventh annual convention of the state Christian Endeavor society, which meets this week. The dates for the sessions are announced as May 12, 13 and 14.

Preparatory services are to be held in Salt Lake, Provo and Springville, on Friday evening. The general convention programme will be presented at Provo on Saturday.

THEY CHANGE THEIR MINDS WISHED TO KILL HIMSELF

WILL TAKE UP THE WARDNER AFFAIR.

Idaho Representatives From That Section State Their Grievance and Insist That Some Action Be Taken

It seems the member of the executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners, who yesterday informed The Herald that the Wardner difficulty would not be taken up at the convention to be held here this week, reckoned without his host. In fact, he so admitted yesterday.

Several of the delegates from that part of Idaho are now in town, and they declare that the federation must take up the matter. While the men engaged in that affair were not connected with the miners' unions of the men themselves. They were not allowed to form a union.

In extension of the actions of the Wardner miners, the men from that section declare that the federation must take up the matter. While the men engaged in that affair were not connected with the miners' unions of the men themselves. They were not allowed to form a union.

These miners argue that this is, or ought to be, free country; that concentrated wealth, aided by corrupt legislators, who work for the interests of the rich and against the poor, is fast bringing the country to a state of slavery that nothing short of another revolution will settle. They are striving, they contend, to see every man, rich and poor alike—get just what belongs to him, and where oppression exists it is in their duty to relieve it.

What will be the nature of the federation's action in the Wardner affair, the delegates who are willing to talk do not pretend to know, but that something will be done to assist the men involved, there can hardly be any question.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES.

Battalion drill received its inauguration for 1899 on last Monday evening, the companies, A, B and D, being represented by only a fair turnout. A large number of visitors were present and watched the maneuvers with close interest.

Decisive steps are being taken towards bringing to headquarters the important guard property, which is scattered among the various companies, and includes equipment of all kinds. This property must be gathered together, and the assistant general is determined that it shall be done.

Private Frank Rose left for Carlsbad, Canada, on Tuesday last. That city is expected to be his future home.

Baseball talk is being indulged in by members of the guard, and Corporal Parr is hard at work getting a team together.

SUED FOR $2,400.

Colorado Company Makes Utahns Defendants.

The P. H. Zang Brewing company of Colorado has begun suit for the collection of $2,400 and the foreclosure of a mortgage against Charles Weber, Lena Weber and Viola McCartney, as the McCartney Lumber company, Oscar Elmore and W. S. McCormick, as the California Wine company, and L. F. Crane and William McNaughton, in the United States court.

It is alleged in the complaint that Charles Weber and his wife, on Oct. 22, 1898, gave twenty-five notes for $25 each, to be paid three months from date, and one note to be paid every succeeding month. A mortgage was given on the June Bug and Baby Elephant mining claims, in the Camp Floyd district, Tootie county. Others besides Weber and wife named in the complaint are named as defendants because of their claim of mortgages on the property.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS HEARD AND SEEN IN TIMMONY'S COURT

PROCLAMATIONS FILLED OUT WITH BLANKS FOR NAMES.

Judge Dusenberry's Successor Will Be Named Monday and Four District Attorneys Tuesday.

Proclamations by the governor appointing district attorneys for the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh judicial districts, to serve until the next general election, as provided for by the new law, effective next Tuesday, have been prepared, and as soon as the executive announces his appointees, the type-setters will have to do is to fill in the names. A similar document has been prepared for the appointment of a successor to Judge Dusenberry of the Fourth district, whose resignation becomes effective on Monday.

In all probability, John E. Both will be named as Judge Dusenberry's successor. His appointment will create a vacancy in the state board of equalization.

The law providing for the appointment of the district attorneys requires the four to be equally divided as to political complexion. Charles De Mottsey (Rep.) and Daniel D. Houtz (Dem.) of Provo are recognized as the leading candidates for the Fourth district. Thomas Marionneau of Beaver, a Democrat, is counted as a sure winner in the Fifth district. In the Sixth district the candidates are John Y. F. F. Rapp, a Republican lawyer of Richfield, and Soren X. Christensen of Mt. Pleasant, and P. E. Woodson of Emery county, Democrat and Republican respectively, are neck and neck in the race.

TRIP - HANFORD FEUD AIRED

AMUSING FEATURES OF A NEIGHBOR'S QUARREL.

Judge Hiles Continues the Injunction Restraining the Hanfords From Using Their Outhouse.

There was much fun sprinkled through the hearing on the Tripp-Hanford controversy before Judge Hiles yesterday. It will be remembered that Dr. Tripp brought suit against his neighbors, the Hanfords, about two weeks ago, to restrain them from using a certain outhouse placed adjacent to his library windows, and to compel them to remove certain offensive signs placed upon the line fence which separates the property of the parties in controversy at Seventh and G streets.

Mr. Hanford is a little Englishman, who follows the profession of mining. He is an energetic, red-faced man, with a gray beard. It was evident when he came on the stand that he has no love for his neighbors, the Tripps. He explained the removal of the objectionable outhouse on the ground that he had sold the strip of land where it formerly stood, and that in all his good-sized piece of property there was no place to put the outhouse save adjacent to the Tripp windows.

Concerning the notices which he posted yesterday, he said: "I'm a miner, and I always put up notices when I want things done."

Certain electric wires which are attached to Mr. Tripp's house and cross his land, he objected to very strongly, saying that he didn't think they had any right there, and besides, they were dangerous. He admitted, however, that they did not come anywhere near any of his buildings, and were high in the air. "But the men who put 'em up came on my land, and they didn't have any right to," he said.

Mr. Hanford's testimony was corroborative of that of her husband.

Dr. Tripp said that there had been a difference of opinion for some years as to the exact boundary line between the lots, and that it had engendered considerable ill-feeling. When Mr. Hanford moved the outhouse, he testified, he had remonstrated with Mr. Hanford and remarked that he would "fix his neighbors, or something to that effect."

The case occupied nearly all the morning, and at its conclusion Judge Hiles continued in effect the order restraining the Hanfords from using the outhouse pending the adjudication of the rights of the parties to the strip of land in question.

C. B. Stewart appeared for the Hanfords, and S. H. Lewis and R. B. Tripp represented Dr. Tripp.

BRIGHAM STREET EXTENSION.

Salt Lake City Street Railway Is Pushing the Work.

Work on the Brigham street extension of the Salt Lake City Street railway is being pushed with all possible speed, and cars will be running as far east as Thirteenth East next week. The officers of the company are averse to talking about further extensions until they have secured franchises from the city council, but it is known in a general way that the company is extending their line south on Thirteenth East as far as the penitentiary. This would carry the line up over the bench in the southeastern part of the city, and open up a most desirable route to residents. It would also afford tourists a magnificent view of the city and valley.
